

communication

[kəˌmyʊəˈnəːʃən]

NOUN

communications (plural noun)

1. the imparting or exchanging of information or news.

"at the moment I am in communication with London" · [\[more\]](#)

synonyms:

transmission · imparting · conveying · reporting · presenting · passing on · [\[more\]](#)

- a letter or message containing information or news.

"a telephone communication"

synonyms:

message · statement · announcement · report · dispatch · communiqué · [\[more\]](#)

- the successful conveying or sharing of ideas and feelings.

"there was a lack of communication between Pamela and her parents"

2. (communications)

means of sending or receiving information, such as phone lines or computers.

"satellite communications" · [\[more\]](#)

3. (communications)

the means of traveling or of transporting goods, such as roads or railroads.

"a city providing excellent road and rail communications"

synonyms:

links · connections · services · routes